Volunteer Spotlight - Delany Dean

Delany Dean started volunteering at the Kansas City Free Health Clinic in March 2006, but it had never been an unfamiliar place. Dean first heard about the Kansas City Free Health Clinic when it was just a "tiny house" from a friend who was volunteering at the clinic as a nurse.

"I've met and known so many KC Free volunteers for over 20 years. I love volunteering here because the clinic has such an amazing presence and it is one of the best resources Kansas City has."

Through her work as a Psychologist and Clinical Supervisor and over 800 hours of volunteering, it is easy to see Dean has a real passion for educating psychologists and counselors.

In addition to volunteering, she has a private practice in Forensic Psychology and is a teacher at Avila University and UMKC. In her spare time, Dean likes reading novels, traveling, photography, and writing on her blog. You can visit it at www.delanydean.com

St. Patrick's Day Parade

Tuesday, March 17, is St Patrick's Day and this year the Kansas City St Pat's Day Parade is traveling down Broadway right in front of the Clinic! Because of all the chaos, confusion, crowds, and closed streets involved with the parade, it has been decided to close the clinic that day. (We'll actually be here doing extreme cleaning/organization projects that day.)
